

The Spanish Comparative Literature Association (SELGyC) is pleased to announce the II SELGyC POSTGRADUATE AND EARLY CAREER RESEARCHERS CONFERENCE, to be held at the Complutense University of Madrid on 30 November and 1 December 2017. The conference aims mainly, but not exclusively, to bring together postgraduate and early career researchers who are currently working in the various fields of Comparative Literature, and to provide a forum for debate and for dissemination of their work in progress.

Postgraduate and early career researchers who have not yet defended their Ph.D. dissertation, as well as doctoral researchers who have defended their dissertations in the last two academic years are invited to submit original papers for consideration. Those who wish to present a paper must send their proposal (by filling out the document available on <http://encuentroselgyc2017.weebly.com/comunicaciones.html>) before 8 September to iiencjovinv@selgyc.com. The Scientific Committee of the Conference will review and select the submitted abstracts; the authors will be notified of the results before 22 September. The final program will be announced 16 October.

The papers will be presented over a number of sessions, as it will be shown in the program. Papers should not exceed 15 minutes. At the end of every session, a discussion of 10 minutes will take place. Papers can be presented either in Spanish or English. If you wish to present your paper in a different language, you can request it, and this possibility will be taken into consideration.

DIGITAL COMPARATISM

The emergence of new technologies and the mass use of Internet in the last decades revolutionized both the field of literature and of comparatism, in relation to the reading and researching habits as well as to the literary creation. Specifically, the digitalization and the accessibility of texts offer comparative literature new possibilities of research and innovative methodologies. This conference aims to give an opportunity to postgraduate and early career researchers – who started their studies and are doing and will do their research in this new context – to analyze the new phenomena of the digital era, and thereby show thus their vision about the future of literature.

Proposals related to any aspect of digital literature and of comparative literature studied from this new digital context will be welcome. Topics may include but are not confined to:

- Cyber Literature
- The existence and the creation of new digital literary genres
- Intertextuality and intermedia
- Hypertextuality and hypermedia
- The blog phenomenon

- New ways of spreading literature
- The e-book
- Massive digitalization projects
- Electronic tools for research
- Digital reviews
- Teaching literature with digital tools.

PRICES

Presenting a paper, as a postgraduate early career researcher member of SELGyC:
FREE (the annual fee is 30 eur)

Presenting a paper, not being a postgraduate or early career researcher member of SELGyC: 25 euros

As an attendee: FREE. Attendance certificate: 5 euros.

CONTACT US

Website: www.encuentroselgyc2017.weebly.com;
<http://www.selgyc.com/index.php/es/services/ii-encuentro-jovenes-investigadores>

Facebook: <https://es-es.facebook.com/encuentroselgyc>

E-mail: iiencjovinv@selgyc.com